WHEN BUSINESS PRO MAKES SENSE

Use it when the site needs regular content updates without developer involvement. CMS-backed content is an infrastructure-dependent feature and does not change the separate-provider-cost rule.

04 - INFRASTRUCTURE

You pay for development. The provider charges are separate.

Keeping these costs separate avoids surprise renewals and makes ownership clear from day one.

DOMAIN*Client-paid*Registration + renewal

The domain is purchased and renewed by the client through the selected registrar.

HOSTING*Client-paid*Hosting plan + renewal

The client pays the selected hosting provider according to the chosen plan and usage.

DATABASE / CLOUD*Client-paid when required*Usage / storage / compute

Database, storage, serverless functions or other cloud resources are separate provider charges.

THIRD-PARTY SERVICES*Client-paid when required*Email / APIs / premium tools

Business email, paid APIs, premium plugins and similar services are outside the development fee.

RECOMMENDED CLIENT-OWNED SETUPCLIENT → PROVIDER → YOUR BUILD

Client owns the domain / hosting / database accounts and pays provider bills. You handle setup, configuration, deployment and integration inside the agreed scope.

IMPORTANT

Actual infrastructure costs can change by provider, plan, usage and renewals. They are never treated as part of the fixed development fee.

05 - COMPARISON

What each package includes

A check means included in scope. Infrastructure purchase remains client-paid across all tiers.

READING THE TABLE

A check means the website feature is included. A dash means it belongs to a higher package or requires separate custom scoping. Domain, hosting, database/cloud and third-party provider charges are outside the development fee.

06 - COMMERCIAL TERMS

Clear scope. Clear ownership. Clear handover.

These terms are designed to prevent the most common source of confusion in freelance web projects.

1 DEVELOPMENT FEE

One-time project charge covering design, development and the listed technical scope.

2 INFRASTRUCTURE

Domain, hosting, database/cloud, business email, paid APIs, premium services and similar provider charges are paid separately by the client.

3 SETUP + DEPLOYMENT

Domain connection, DNS, hosting configuration, SSL / HTTPS and production deployment are included in the selected website package.

4 REVISIONS

Revision limits and final content handover are confirmed in the quotation before development begins.

5 MAINTENANCE

Future updates, new pages, feature changes and ongoing maintenance are outside the one-time scope unless separately agreed.

CUSTOM APP / PLATFORM

Pricing is defined after requirements are clear.

For dashboards, portals, booking systems, auth, payments, database-backed applications, API integrations or automation, the quote is created separately after scope and architecture are defined.

01

DISCUSS

Users, workflow, goals, modules, integrations and development time.

02

SCOPE

03

QUOTE

Development fee and terms in writing.
